I would like to register my interest in this regulation *NOT* passing. File this under "against" passage of RIN 1210 - AB32.

Hands off my IRA!

I take particular issue with the general matter of restricting the rights of individual investors who rely on the use of options within self-managed IRAs to hedge against market downturns. Removing this freedom to invest my own money how I see fit does nothing to protect me--in fact, it stands to hurt me. But even if you were wanting to protect me from myself, let me remind you that it is neither your right nor proper role to protect me from myself in the markets. My investments are my responsibility alone.

Leave options trading alone. No change is needed. The risk-averse are not required to use them. The risk-prone only have their own money to lose.

Thank you for considering it.
